
Riding in 2007-2008

Posted by frank - 2007/11/09 08:09

Anybody have any days on the snow yet? Where did you go? Any good days? Do tell.

=====

Re:Riding in 2007-2008

Posted by frank - 2007/11/09 12:11

Anyone ride A-basin this season?

=====

Re:Riding in 2007-2008

Posted by admin - 2007/11/10 00:26

Hey

I have not been to A-Basin yet, but Breckenridge is opening up November 9 with the Beaver Run SuperChair, and the Camelback lift on Peak 9 at 8:30 a.m.

=====

Re:Riding in 2007-2008

Posted by Bigdaddy - 2007/11/10 23:20

The snow is coming I can feel it!!! My Roomies and I might go to Breck on Tuesday and slash some Gnar!!!!

=====

Re:Riding in 2007-2008

Posted by Josey - 2007/11/14 00:47

I just rode A-Basin yesterday. It was killer. They have a top to bottom run open and the snow is a bit better at the bottom.

The park has three rails up, and pretty decent for this time of year.

I'm excited for A-Basin to open up their new terrain. It is called Montezuma Bowl and is said to increase their ridable terrain by around 50 percent. Steep and Deep. It is scheduled to be open Jan 16, 2008.

Ride on.

=====

Re:Riding in 2007-2008

Posted by Gav - 2007/11/14 08:32

AAAAARRRRRGGGGGG is it ever going to snow in colorado goddammit hee hee pacific northwest asses keep sending me e-mails about their dumps

=====

Re:Riding in 2007-2008

Posted by MillHouse - 2007/11/15 04:37

Loveland seems to havethe best snow right now and not too much traffic. Copper is mobbed with ski racers but has a nice small box/rail park. I hear that the Basin Beats Breck, but everyone is hurting. It will snow. It always does. 2 years ago, same deal. Dumped at Thanksgiving and I was in 5' of snow in lower yonder on Jan 5th.

=====